Khushboo is a 1978 Indian Bollywood romance film produced by Jaikishan Dayabhai Panchal and directed by Aman Kumar. The film stars Mumtaz , Rajesh Khanna, Moushumi Chatterjee and Nirupa Roy in pivotal roles. It was a success at the box office with its songs like "Jeevan Sapne" still remembered today. The film deals with the story of an aspiring singer's ambition to become a playback singer with the help of her mentor who just happens to be married to another woman. Khushboo's (Mumtaz) father Nirmal Kumar (Sujit Kumar) is a famous singer who has loved his daughter immensely. Unfortunately, he dies in an accident. Khushboo has to face the world alone. She meets with a rich elderly man Devi Prasad Roy (Balraj Sahni), who is impressed by her singing skills and offers her to work for him as a singer. She starts working there, but soon gets to know about his other life which is another wife named Sita Devi(Durga Khote) and two sons Ravi alias Rajvi(Rajesh Khanna and Karan(Prem Chopra) . Bharti (Moushumi Chatterjee) is Devi Prasad Roy's daughter from his first wife Sita Devi. Bharti and Khushboo become good friends. Ravi, Karan and Ravi's best friend Ashok(Adiya Pancholi) nick-name "Bhessma"(as he is unmarried) are all graduates but are unemployed as they choose to enjoy life instead of working. Khushboo wants to become a singer, but Devi Prasad discourages her because he thinks that she will be exploited by the music industry. However, Khushboo does not give up on her ambition and she tries hard to fulfill her dreams. Meantime, Ravi meets with Khushboo and they both fall in love. Ravi too, like his brother is unemployed; but, unlike Karan, he does not wish to seek employment immediately. He spends his time enjoying every possible pleasure of life. He does not make any effort to get a job like his brother who works for another two years before joining the family business (he had got an offer from a company that made him sign an agreement that he will work for them only if they improve their offer). The story then takes on an interesting twist. Devi Prasad wants both his sons to be happily married like him. So, he decides that Ravi will marry Khushboo and Karan will marry Bharti. Both the brothers do not agree with this plan and get into an argument with their father. Suddenly their father collapses and is admitted to hospital. Doctors find out that he had a high blood pressure and he is in a serious condition. He tells them about his decision of getting Ravi married to Khushboo and Karan married to Bharti, but he wants his sons to accept this decision before their marriage. Both the brothers still disagree with him, but they do not want him to die without his wishes being fulfilled. They also want him to see their wedding when everything is ready for it.
